Website maintenance, feature additions and mobile app development

Posted 19 hours ago  Worldwide

We are seeking a skilled Flutter and Node.js developer to create a dynamic mobile application. The project involves crafting an intuitive UI/UX for seamless user interaction. Concurrently, we're expanding our React website using TypeScript, with detailed feature specifications to be provided in our initial meeting. This dual-focus role offers an exciting opportunity to contribute to both mobile and web development. Successful completion could pave the way for full-time employment. Join us in this innovative venture, where your expertise will shape cutting-edge applications and propel our platforms to new heights. Let's collaborate to bring ideas to life and potentially forge a long-term partnership.
